HAND THERAPY

Bridging The Gap From Medical Management
To Successful Recovery

How can a Hand Therapist help your clients?

A Certified Hand Therapist has advanced clinical education and experience in the field of orthopedic Occupational Therapy or Physical Therapy.

We focus on the treatment of the upper extremity to increase functional abilities and to treat conditions resulting from disease, congenital deformities or trauma. Hand Therapists help clients protect their joints by using appropriate ergonomic and energy conservation techniques as they apply to their individual lifestyle.

Our services include customized evaluation, individualized home programs, adaptive equipment recommendations and training. We specialize in custom fabricated splints and braces to prevent deformity and to ease pain. In addition, a focus on diagnosis education is important in order to maximize the client's safety level and enhance their quality of life.

Our mission is to provide the best individualized care while working as a team with the referring physician to satisfy the unique needs of each patient.
